

SELF-CHECKLIST FOR ACCEPTING PET AS CHECKED BAGGAGE

This is a checklist used by our airport staff to check if your pet and its pet container comply with the necessary requirements. It is not compulsory for you to complete this checklist but we do encourage you to go through it to ensure that all the requirements have been met before proceeding to the airport.

To have a stress-free travel experience for both you and your pet, on the day of your departure, do check in at least two hours before your departure. If you're travelling out of the USA, please remember to check in at least three hours before your departure for security screening.

As there is no temperature control in the cargo hold, we are unable to accept your pet on all our Boeing 737-operated flights.

Travel Documents

Every country has its own set of requirements when it comes to travelling with animals. We encourage you to always check your departure, transit and arriving country's local requirements and restrictions. You'll also need to prepare all the necessary accompanying documents to ensure a smooth journey for both you and your pet.

For import, export or transshipment of pets into, out of or via Singapore respectively, you may refer to the AVS (Animal & Veterinary Service) website <https://www.nparks.gov.sg/avs/pets> for more information.

There must be adequate fasteners (at least 6: 2 at the top, 2 at the bottom and 2 at the sides) e.g. cable ties, on the door of the container to ensure that it cannot be forced open by the pet or involuntary opened during transport².
- The door must be constructed of heavy plastic, welded or cast metal strong enough to prevent your pet from bending or distorting the door. Door made of plastic material are permitted, if the hinges and locking pins are made of metal.
- Hinge and locking pins that engage the container must be beyond the extrusions by at least 1.6cm (5/8 in).
- Handling spacer bars/handles must be provided along the middle of both long sides of the container.
- The container must have at least 4 ventilation openings at four sides.
- The container must be either in one piece construction or have a nut and metal bolt that is tightened in each hole that connects the top and bottom of the container. Plastic latch that snapped the top and bottom of the container is not allowed, unless it also has a nut and metal bolt that connect the top and bottom of container.
- All inside edges of the kennel must be smooth or rounded. There must be no sharp projections, such as nails, upon which your pet can injure itself.

Food container must be present within the pet container if sealed, or attached to it for use in cases of flight delay. Sealed Pet food can be attached outside the kennel in cases of flight delay.
- The height of the kennel complies with the maximum acceptable height limit. (Maximum acceptable height limit of the container: 56cm on A330, 70cm on A350, 60cm for A380, 101cm on B777 and 111cm on B787)
- The combined weight of your pet and its container does not exceed 32kg.

Examples of Acceptable Pet Container

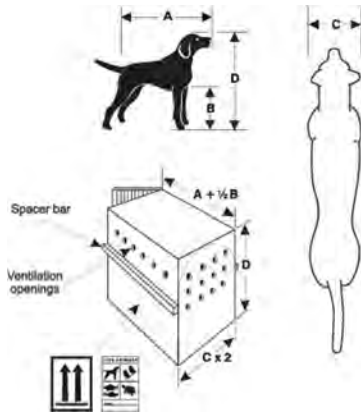

Examples of Unacceptable Pet Container (Non-IATA standards)

Size of the Kennel

- Your pet in the container must have enough space to turn about normally while standing, without the head touching the roof of the container.
- Your pet should also be able to sit straight, and to lay down comfortably.

Guidance for Dimensions of Container:

Guidelines for the dimensions of container are:

- A = length of animal from tip of nose to base/root of tail
- B = height from ground to elbow joint.
- C = width across shoulders or widest point (whichever is greater)
- D = height of animal in natural standing position from top of head or the ear tip to the floor (whichever is higher)

Minimum width of the container dimensions:

- Length = $A + \frac{1}{2} B$
- Width = $C \times 2$
- Height = D

For multiple animals in one container, the container dimensions must relate to the largest animal.

The width of the container being calculated as:

- Two animals: $C \times 3$
- Three animals: $C \times 4$

The height and length are determined the same as for a single animal.

- Your pet must be at least 3 months old.
- Each dog/cat must be placed in a separate container or crate or must fulfil the requirements below:
